DATED :DECEMBER 22, 2005.

P.C.

1. Heard.

2. The certificate which was sought to be relied upon in support of the application for furlough leave was issued by a doctor having qualification of B.A.M.S. who had certified that the wife of the petitioner had to under go treatment from him due to severe hypertension, valvular heart disease and mental depression due to three deaths in her close family members. Apart from that, it does not disclose any chronic disease and also does not disclose any serious illness to justify the furlough leave and therefore, no fault can be found in rejecting the furlough leave. Petition is therefore, rejected.
